REFLECTIONS

I first wrote a similar article to this for the Coventry Diocesan Guild of Church Bell Ringers' quarterly magazine, and then realized how pertinent it was to our Church.

'Le Golfe de Morbihan' in Brittany has a micro-climate, as well as a mind of its own, so weather-wise it can range from very hot to stormy all in a day. As a consequence we never visit our little house there without taking a jigsaw puzzle – just in case!

This year we took a Jigsaw Puzzle with a picture of the bells, specially financed and cast to commemorate the end of WW1, which were then installed at Ypres. Ostensibly, at 250 pieces, an easy one to complete. But no! It proved quite challenging as most of the pieces were unconventional and we were continually surprised at just which pieces slotted together. My mind strayed to how synonymous Church Congregations are with this puzzle! A firm framework needed to be formed to provide a cohesive base on which to build and there were usually some clues as to which pieces were going to be the components of this. Oddly-shaped, often spikey-fashioned pieces, (as well as conventional bits) proved something of a trial to form the inside but were needed to provide stability to the finished product as a whole. Many of these fragments needed a bit of a 'wobble' and some 'persuasion' to make them fit perfectly. There were also specifically-shaped pieces, particularly religious icons – a cross, a chalice, a crook, a bell, a Church door, a Bible. These pieces were the most challenging, but needed to be fitted in to complete the dilemma. The puzzle completed (on a hot afternoon with rain pouring down) gave us great satisfaction at our achievement and the beautiful outcome reminded us of the people gone before us and what had been sacrificed for us.

So, next time you're having problems working out where you fit at St James' or how important a role you may play as part of the team at St James', think of yourself as a piece of that jigsaw puzzle – varying shapes, sizes, positions, temperaments.

No one piece is more important than any other. You all have a part to play and without each contributor the puzzle is incomplete.

DATA PROTECTION CONSENT FORMS.

The new data protection regulations stipulate that all individuals on whom personal information is held must advise the organisation who holds it how they wish this data to be used. Therefore, your co-operation would be greatly appreciated in completing a consent form confirming your instructions to St James' Church PCC, who are acting as Data Controller.

You will find clip boards with consent forms attached in most of the pews. The completed consent forms can be placed in a box at the rear of the church. If you have any queries please see Ann Sue or May.

Thank you for your assistance .
